

The diagram illustrates a library layout with three distinct functional areas:

- 专用藏书室 (Specialized Collection Room): Located on the left, it features a long wall of bookshelves and a curved entrance at the bottom left.
- 自主阅览室 (Self-directed Reading Room): The central area, characterized by a wide open space and a curved entrance at the bottom center.
- 综合阅览室 (General Reading Room): Located on the right, it also has a long wall of bookshelves and a curved entrance at the bottom right.

The layout is symmetrical, with bookshelves lining the top and bottom walls of each section. The central aisle provides access to all three rooms.
